Co-op Committee Passes Change In Dance Set-up

At a meeting of the Student Assembly held on Tuesday, Jan. 6, in the Apollo room, Tom Athey, chairman in charge of investigating the Dance Committee, reported that the amendment on the Dance Committee, passed by the Assembly on Nov. 25, had been approved by the General Cooperative Committee and sent to Pres. John E. Pomfret for final approval.

Howard Hyle, president of the student body, reported that the General Cooperative Committee was considering the possibility of re-opening Matoaka Park. The committee will have academic robes cleaned before June graduation, and the public address system in the cafeteria repaired.

Bob Cartwright was elected president of the Interclub Council to replace Barbara Simons, who will graduate in February.

The Assembly gave their approval to a plan whereby all class meetings will be held on the same day, once a month. The Assembly also approved plans to publish a Student Directory and distribute it to all students within two weeks after registration in the fall.

In regard to a class room clean-up campaign, it was decided that the Student Government would provide ash trays for class rooms if the administration would provide waste baskets.

Bob Hendrich, president of the freshman class, stated that his class would sponsor the writing of a new Alma Mater.

Men's Honor Council Reports Case Results

The men's and women's Honor Councils, realizing that they are representatives of the Student Body, have announced the policy of making public the results of the cases tried within the semester.

"By this action it is hoped that a better understanding of the Honor System will be realized, and that every student will be assured of the diligence of the Councils," declared Bob Sherry, chairman of the men's Council.

Separate reports will be given periodically by each council.

The following is the report of the Men's Honor Council:

Madison To Hold State Conference

A state-wide Play Day will be held at Madison College in Harrisonburg on March 5 and 6.

In addition to the various sports events scheduled, there will be a meeting of the WAA representatives of each college in the state. At this meeting, the advantages and disadvantages of forming a state chapter of the American Federation of College Women will be discussed.

Jane Beatty, president of the WAA, declared that the plan will be presented to the women students at the college for discussion at a meeting of the WAA on Monday, Feb. 2.

Pierce Middleton

Middleton To Talk At Chapel Service

"In this secular age of ours, it is well to remember that the church has contributed greatly to the civilization we enjoy," stated Pierce Middleton, guest speaker for the chapel service scheduled for tomorrow at 6:30 p. m.

Middleton, a research associate for the Institute of Early American History and a lecturer at the college, will speak on the topic "Ecclesiastic Origins of Universities," and will explain the part played by the church in founding institutions of higher education.

In his address he will mention the part played by the Church of England in establishing William and Mary. "Many of the first Chancellors of the college were bishops of the church," stated Middleton.

W&M Students Work For Accounting Firms

With the aim to provide accounting majors with practical experience, five William and Mary students are now working with leading accounting firms, Dr. Charles F. Marsh, head of the department of business administration, announced last Friday.

Norman Brown, Kermit Kelly, Allen Tanner and Robert White are with the Baltimore office of Haskins and Sells, while Herbert Poplinger is in the New York office of Price, Waterhouse, and Company. These students will return to college after Feb. 15.

Dixie Bowl Films Will Be Presented By Local Jaycees

The official movies of the New Year's Day Dixie Bowl game between William and Mary and Arkansas will be shown at the Williamsburg Theatre on Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 17 and 18, under the sponsorship of the Williamsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today by Horace E. Henderson, local Jaycee president.

The special showing has been arranged by the Jaycees and the college Athletic Association for the football team's annual banquet and for the Junior Chamber Welfare Fund.

The complete game, which William and Mary lost 21-19, will be shown in slow motion beginning at 2 p. m. on Saturday, Jan. 17 and again at 2 p. m. on Sunday, Jan. 18. If more than theatre capacity is sold, the movies will be shown again the following week.

Tickets for the movie, priced at 60 cents each, may be obtained at the information desk in Marshall-Wythe Hall, at Frazier-Callis from any member of the Williamsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce. This will be the first local showing of the films.

It is possible that films of another New Year's Day game may be presented also. If so, the Orange Bowl contest, in which Georgia Tech triumphed over Kansas, probably will be shown.

Theatre Will Produce Shakespearean Drama

Director Althea Hunt has announced that William Shakespeare's masterful tragedy, Macbeth, will be produced at Phi Beta Kappa Hall on March 10, 11 and 12 as the next offering of the William and Mary Theatre.

Pre-try-out readings of the play will be held in Wren Kitchen at 7 p. m. on Thursday, Jan. 14. Miss Hunt emphasized the point that she will hold regular try-outs at a later date, and that the Thursday session will be a general get-together of students interested in all phases of the production.

The director, at the same time, will have an opportunity to survey the field of people who attend the readings, with an eye out for possible candidates for roles.

"Students are urged to bring copies of Macbeth, if possible, and are asked to arrive at the kitchen at 7 p. m.," Miss Hunt declared.

Katharine Jeffers

AAUW To Hear Katharine Jeffers

Dr. Katharine R. Jeffers, dean of women will address the American Association of University Women on the night of Thursday, Jan. 15 in Newport News. Dr. Jeffers' address will be "A Discussion on the Curriculum at William and Mary in Relation to the Problem of Liberal Arts Education."

A graduate of the University of Missouri, Dr. Jeffers came to William and Mary last September following the retirement of Dr. Grace Warren Landrum. Prior to her present appointment, the new dean served on the faculty at Duke University from 1937 till last Spring. During this period she served a term as president of the Durham, N. C., branch of the AAUW.

A native of California, Pa., Dean Jeffers spent most of her earlier life in Missouri, where her father was a member of the University of Missouri faculty. Having received both her bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees from the University of Missouri, Dean Jeffers later attended the University of Berlin as a Fanny Bullock Workman of Bryn Mawr College. Dean Jeffers spent two years in Berlin and then received the degree of doctor of philosophy from Bryn Mawr. For the following two years, she was a National Research fellow at McGill University, Canada.

In addition to her duties as dean of women at William and Mary, Dr. Jeffers serves as an associate professor of biology. In recent years, she has published various articles on biological studies. Dean Jeffers holds membership in the American Society of Zoologists, American Association of Anatomists, American Society of Mammalogists, Sigma Xi, and Sigma Delta Epsilon.

John E. Pomfret Will Give Degrees To 60 Graduates

Graduation exercises for the Jan. graduating class will be held at 2 p. m. on Saturday, Jan. 31, in Phi Beta Kappa Hall and will be followed by a reception in the Dodge Room.

The 58 candidates for the A. B. and B. S. degrees and two for B.C.L. degrees will receive them from Dr. John E. Pomfret, president of the college. Dr. Harold L. Fowler, professor of history, will make the graduation address on the subject "Liberal Education."

The first January graduation in the history of the college took place in 1942 because of the war and the desire of many of the boys to graduate before they were called into service. Since then, because of the return of many veterans the practice of a mid-year graduation has been followed.

It is expected that only two more January graduations will take place after this year. Nevertheless, this year's class is the largest in the history of the college.

Candidates receiving Bachelor of Arts degrees are Richard Adams, Peter Axson, Maybin Baker, Robert Barritt, Ruxton Birnie, Franklin Bon, Regis Brown, Rhea Burgess, Gloria Carbonell, Walter Coleman, Adria Collins, Joseph Dallett, Howard Eggert, Frank Emmerson, William Geiger, William Hanson, George Heathcote, Robert Henderson, Frederick Herman, Blackwell Holmes, Julian Irvin, Lucy Jones, Pasco Keen, Ronald King, William Knowles, Irving Lansman, Arthur Livick, Edward Lodge, Donald Merriman, Thomas Moncure, William Murphy, Betty Nicholson, John Ohanian, John O'Neill, William Parker, Ruth Richmond, Alice Lee Ritchie, Leonard Sands, Robert Sherry, Carroll Simmons, Barbara Simons, Margaret Smith, Bryan Smither, John Spillane, Paul Tavss, Robert Trigg, Clement Vaughan, William White, Andrew Williams, Margaret Williams, Daniel Wilson, Stella Withers.

Candidates who will receive Bachelor of Science degrees are John Daley, Olive Krastell, Zack Lewis, Peggy Pennewell, William Plumer, Joseph Rego, Calvin Tiller, Eleanor Westbrook, June Bonney White.

Donald Taylor and James Ward will receive degrees as Bachelors of Civil Law.

Paul Green To Speak At Next Convocation

Paul Green will speak at the exercises commemorating the 255th anniversary of the granting of the charter for the establishment of the college on Monday, Feb. 9, at 11 a. m. in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

Green, noted playwright and author of The Common Glory and The Lost Colony won a Pulitzer Prize for his famous play, In Abraham's Bosom, and is one of the authors of Native Son. His future plans include the completion of another symphonic drama commemorating the 150th year since the founding of Washington. He is now a professor at the University of North Carolina.

A full academic procession will follow the choir as they sing the "William and Mary Hymn." The Reverend Francis Craighill will read the invocation and benediction.

Registration Conference

Many students can give a hearty thanks for the innovation of the pre-registration conference by some departments. We hope they will become a regular part of the registration period.

With the increase in enrollment at the College of William and Mary, many students have had advisors who were not in the department in which they were majoring. Consequently, these advisors knew nothing about the courses that the student was interested in, and the advisory part of registration became strictly a farce. It was common for men and women to be "railroaded" into enrolling for courses they didn't wish to take.

Under the new system of conferences the student still has to go through the registration process, but the plan offers many their first opportunity to get acquainted with heads of departments in which they are majoring, for the registration "rat-race" had become so hurried that advisors were present in name only. The professors who did take time to discuss a student's courses became so far behind in appointments that registration became hopeless. Now all difficulties can be ironed out before the student actually registers.

EDITOR'S NOTE:

There will be no FLAT HAT staff meeting tonight. The next staff meeting will be at 8 p. m. on Tuesday, Jan. 27. The editors will meet at 7:30 p. m. on that date.

Arthur Thompson Points Out Price Of Demagoguery In Election Year

Can it be that Messrs. Truman, Taft, and certain other contemporary politicians have feminine "ghost writers?" We cannot say that these men are ruled behind the scenes by their wives, or that they merely leave the work of speech-writing to their secretaries. Regardless of the identity of the writers, surely only "female logic" could reconcile half a dozen mutually contradictory proposals in a single speech.

No, we can't blame the ladies, or the housing shortage, for the absurdities in the latest verbal duel between two small-time politicians, who are competing for a four-year lease on a Pennsylvania Avenue residence.

Election Year Demagoguery

This latest epidemic of demagoguery is just one of the prices we pay, especially during election years, for the combination of democracy with voters who are apathetic toward government, except when it steps on their toes.

All last year Mr. Truman fought Republican proposals for reduction of individual income taxes. He angrily, and quite accurately, described these proposals as (1) inflationary, and (2) playing politics, with an eye on the 1948 presidential elections. As recently as December, he made it apparent that he intended to veto such a bill.

Then came the "state of the Union" address. "The same old story," the Republicans must have thought, as they leaned back further into the arms of Morpheus, who brought them visions of swaying enough Democrats to pass a tax cut over the Presidential veto.

Ah, but this is an election year! And Mr. Wallace might take away some of the "little men" on whom the New Deal relied. How to hold these voters? The age old formula: reduce the "little man's" taxes.

Inflationary? Of course, but we'll sugar-coat that pill, so that they won't know what hit them, at least not before November. Presto! The Truman "about face" on tax-reduction. That was only the most publicized of the tight-rope walking stunts performed by Mr. Truman in his address.

"Woe Is Us"

"Woe is us," quoth the Republicans. "The bum has stolen our tricks." But Senator Taft rose to the occasion. Far be it from him to agree with anyone, especially with the presidency at stake.

"It looks to me like playing politics with your money," said he, indignantly. Right you are, Senator, but, in your next paragraph, (paraphrased slightly), you reminded the voters that, "The Republican Congress (I say REPUBLICAN, boys, and don't forget us in November) intends to go on with its program." The program, as the Senator outlined it, includes a tax cut even larger than that proposed by the President.

Meanwhile, the poor experts in the Treasury Department, and millions of the "suckers" (sorry, boys, we mean taxpayers), are echoing Mr. Taft's demand, "Where is this money coming from?" Don't ask us, Senator. We just haven't learned how to make money out of thin air, as you and Mr. Truman do so easily in your speeches.

Did You Have A Nice Vacation? --- Ronald King's ---

William and Mary-Go-Round

Happy New Year, peasants!
 Do you feel as lousy as I do about coming back?

If there's a more dismal scene than the C&O depot on the last night of vacation, I don't want to view it.

Yessir! When that conductor yells, "WILLIAMSBURG!" and the brakes come to a screeching parade rest, my endocrine glands start doing push-ups and my heart begins to pound like the bass drum at a revival meeting. The journey up North Boundary Street is comparable to the "last mile" trek to the death house.

The vacation is over and you know what comes next . . . books . . . no-doz . . . black coffee . . . exams . . .

But the worst ordeal of all is the ritual through which every student must go for the first few days after his return. It's a six-word sentence which goes (inevitably) like this:

"DID YOU HAVE A NICE VACATION?"

There are a limited number of retorts. It's either "Fine!" "Great!" or in the case of an emotionally unstable person, "Wonderful!"

I know of a student who arrived home for the holidays to discover that his house had burned to the foundations the night before. His father had strangled to death on a jumbo-size strand of macaroni, and his mother had eloped with a faro dealer from Las Vegas. The boy was arrested for vagrancy (he was wearing a shirt laundered at the college) and spent the entire two weeks in the local gaol before he could clear himself. Yet when anyone asks, "Did you have a nice vacation?" he beams and says, "Fine!"

Well, kiddies, if anyone asks me about my vacation, I'm not going to let him off with a one-word resumé.

Frankly, I had a miserable time.

First of all, I had arranged weeks in advance for a ride to my home. The day before the vacation my benefactor informed me that he couldn't take me as he had planned. The side car to his motor scooter was sadly in need of repair.

So I boarded a train and after an uneventful trip (except for the fact that the conductors kept locking and unlocking the door to my compartment at every station) arrived in Washington, D. C., mah home town.

No one in the family was on hand to greet me when I opened the door to my house. Only the maid, who growled, "Can't you wipe off your shoes before you come in?" and our cocker spaniel, who just growled.

Quest For Dates

After the folks came in I started my quest for dates. Thanks to the army and William and Mary, I have been out of Washington circulation for about six years. All of the gals I knew are either married or are in Reno seeking a remedy. The last one on my list was Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, and I understand she has since moved out of town. So most of my evenings were, of necessity, spent with blind dates.

Now I know what they mean. I'm not exactly Van Johnson, but the first one I dated wasn't exactly Dame Beauty. More like Dame May Whitty.

At any rate, we decided to go to a night club, the Morgue Room of the Hotel Cadaver. It was crowded just enough to make me eager to breathe the comparatively clean air of a locker room.

The place had no cover charge or minimum. You just dropped your wallet at the door and called it even.

The floor show was terrific! They had a quartet of grain speculators singing, "My Futures Just Passed," plus Henry Wallace doing a solo.

Unconscious

Washington's a great place, but in the night-life department it's a fizzle. I wouldn't say it was dead at night; just unconscious. It's the only place in the world where the night clubs close at eleven on New Year's Eve.

The Nation's Capital is no place for college students. The black market on bubble gum is something fierce, all the stores are out of yo-yo strings, and Zip Comics is practically a collector's item.

Although most of the girls I dated looked like the answer to a man's nightmare, I actually happened upon a very lovely creature one night. I had been progressing rather smoothly, thank you, when the conversation shifted to education. "What year are you in?" asked I. "Sophomore," said she. "Smith? Vassar? Wellesley?" asked I. "No. Anacostia High School," said she. "How old are you," sputtered I. "Fifteen," answered she. "Farewell," moaned I.

Everything went wrong. On New Year's Day I tried to get the Dixie Bowl game on the radio. By some quirk there were two programs at the same spot on the dial—the game and a home recipe program. I heard something like this:

"The Indians are on their own 32. Single wing. It looks like Lex is going to drop two eggs into a cup. Stir gently until the ball is in the end zone. The referee is coated with a layer of meringue and topped off with a luscious penalty for unnecessary roughness."

Anybody want to buy a Philco with a right shoe in the condenser?

Went to a movie, and just as the picture was ending, I charged out of the theatre and fled down the main street before I realized that I wasn't in Williamsburg, and nobody was racing me to the cafeteria.

Oh, the whole vacation was thimply awful!

But I won't brood about it. This week's column has a happy ending.

This is the end.

Aren't you happy?

Lb. Moore Discusses Column-Writing, Cudgel Nightmares

"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party—*%#&." Sitting dutifully before a typewriter, blank paper all set up—and that is all that comes from this study-weary, vacation-weary mind.

Just can't think of anything to launch forth on in this eventful pre-examination week.

We might employ the method of writing a column about writing a column, a trick used by stagnant-minded columnists with regular regularity. Or we've toyed with the idea of going into detail about the "vacation" (in quotes because we traveled home laden with books) but, of course, Columnist King will have antedated us on that one. Then there's the possibility of fuming for 500 words about the futility of exams—a totally futile subject.

In wild desperation we thought of writing something simple such as 500 words all beginning with "Z" in wilder desperation we mulled over the idea of taking up the cudgel again! In wildest desperation we even thought of "treating" the dance committee again—but no, this column is too much fun and we're holding off the day of the "reject slip" from Editor Bud.

Cudgel Nightmare

But in regard to cudgels—and a Sunday-night supper in the cafeteria for the joker who even thought of that word—we had a nightmare recently on that subject of cudgels which might be significant to the practicing psychologists who live, move and have their being on the third floor of the Wren Building. Most of the objects we saw in this nocturnal journey into the sub-conscious were cudgels—gold ones encased in satin-lined boxes, big ones, little ones, lavender-striped ones coming at us in a ferocious manner. There were even a couple of reinforced ones, but it was not until a NOW-LIMP cudgel appeared that we were awakened by our own screams.

After this somewhat traumatic experience, we feel, in view of our own mental health, that for awhile it is wise to lay off the cudgels—now-limp, reinforced, or otherwise.

So there's little left to talk about. By way of suggestions, we might propose that a Greek's annex be opened between the hours of 9 and 10:30 p. m. to handle all the bleary-eyed students who struggle in gasping for a beer after a grueling half-hour in the library. Not only are the students bleary-eyed, but also half blind after trying to study in the glare of two-watt bulbs in the library reading rooms.

New Look

Some helpful soul offered the "new look" as a column subject. Granted, there are plenty of new "new looks" trailing around campus now, but our only observation of the subject is something that is quite obvious—i.e., all the fashion world is doing is moving the dress downward on the feminine form. And anyway, the latest reports have it that we are currently in a petticoat era, and we feel "petticoats" are a rather indelicate topic. (It would seem we are a little more inhibited about indelicate subjects than some of our worthy colleagues.)

Well . . . this looks about like 500 words, but let us take this opportunity to wish you merry studying, a happy, delirious exam period, and all kinds of success in finding five crisp courses for next semester. And may we tender deepest sympathy to the unfortunate students who suffer from spurts of intellectual ambition during registration time.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

I noted with approval the new method of handling traffic on the college's driveway, instituted during the Christmas vacation. Then, I noted with hearty amusement and not the slightest bit of nostalgia the parking assignments for "President," "Bursar," "Dean of Men," Etc., in the parking lot between Marshall-Wythe and Old Dominion.

No, it didn't make me homesick, but it did take me back a little to the slots assigned to "Commanding Officers," "Adjutant," and the others of the army hierarchy.

Also, at the gate which has served as main entrance to all drivers, an imposing "Do Not Enter" sign is painted in large letters on the street. One must enter by way of Cary field. Maybe if you are a football player. . . .

At any rate, I don't blame those who turn around and back down the one-way street.

VA Grants Eligibility Certificates To Veterans Discontinuing Training

Veterans presently enrolled for study who discontinue their training under the G-I Bill before their period of entitlement to training at Government expense is used up must obtain what the Veterans Administration calls a "supplemental certificate of eligibility" before they re-enter training.

This "supplemental certificate of eligibility" indicates the amount of additional training the veteran is entitled to at Government expense after the amount of time previously used in training has been deducted.

The veteran who re-enters training without first getting a "supplemental certificate of eligibility" is, according to the VA, not officially entered into training, and will not receive his subsistence allowance checks until the new certificate is issued.

If the veteran has satisfactorily completed the previous course, the supplemental certificate can be issued almost immediately. If, however, he has failed in his original program, it is necessary that he receive complete professional counseling before a new certificate can be issued.

Hibbert D. Corey, director of the Placement Bureau, has requested that all seniors graduating in June or August register at the bureau's office in 215 Marshall-Wythe.

Editor Gives Deadline For Royalist Material

"All types of material are desired for publication in the third issue of the Royalist, especially short articles and Lecture Leavenings," stated Marcia Magill, editor of the literary magazine. The deadline is Feb. 26.

The second issue of the publication was delivered today. All off-campus students may obtain copies at the information desk in Marshall-Wythe. Those dormitories and sorority houses which do not get copies by Wednesday, Jan. 14, may call the circulation manager, John Dayton, at the Morris House.

The judges for the second issue are Marcel Reboussin, acting assistant professor of French; Dr. Fraser Neiman, associate professor in English; Lois Willis, editor of the Colonial Echo; and Allan Jones, editor of the FLAT HAT. The winners will be announced in the Feb. 10 issue of The FLAT HAT.

Seven British Universities To Admit U. S. Students To Summer Session

Approximately 600 places will be reserved for American students at summer schools to be held by seven British universities and university colleges during July and August of 1948.

Each course will last six weeks. The subjects will range over a wide field, covering studies on European Civilization, Shakespearean and Elizabethan Drama, Britain's Economic Future, Contemporary English Literature, Education in England, an Historical and Sociological Survey of Contemporary Britain and a post graduate school in medical and scientific studies.

Previous Study Helps

The schools are intended primarily for graduates and teachers who have made some previous study in the subjects offered, but in some cases undergraduates in their junior and senior year, with special interests in academic training, will be able to attend.

All the courses will be residential, and arrangements will be made for students to live either in colleges or in university hostels.

Students who complete their courses to the satisfaction of their tutors will be given certificates of attendance. Credits obtained can, by previous arrangements with the registrars of their own universities, be transferred to students' home colleges. The schools will be recognized by the Veterans Administration for grants under the G. I. Bill of Rights.

500 Passages Available

The Cunard-White Star Line has agreed to make about 500 round-trip passages available for successful candidates, but applications for these passages will be considered only after the students have been accepted for a school.

The cost of the courses, including tuition and maintenance for the six weeks, will be from $240 to $264. Port-to-port transport for American students will be from $328 to $448 for the round trip.

All inquiries about the summer schools should be made to the Institute of International Education at 2 West 45th Street, New York, N. Y. Applications will be received by the Institute by March 15, 1948.

The reserve room in the library will be closed from Thursday, Jan. 29, to Monday, Feb. 2, in order to arrange the large shift of reserved books.

Braves Lose To VPI; Play W & L, Richmond This Week

Gobblers Slip Braves 59-41 Defeat There

Having dropped a 59 to 41 decision to the VPI quintet in Blacksburg last night, the William and Mary cagers move on to Lexington tonight to battle another strong court team, the Washington and Lee Generals, before returning home.

Later in the week, Coach Barney Wilson takes his team to Richmond to tangle with the University of Richmond at the Blues Armory in a Saturday night engagement.

Tech Team "Hot"

William and Mary ran into a well-coordinated fast break attack and zone defense last night, and they also ran into a "hot" Virginia Tech team which played well as a group. Led by the scoring of Dick Sayre, freshman guard, the Gobblers ran up a halftime lead of 26 to 13 and went on from there.

Chester Giermak, high-scoring Brave center, was guarded closely and limited to a single field goal and four points, but Charlie Sokol and Eddie McMillan picked up 11 each, and Charlie Teach added 10 more.

In Lexington Tonight

More trouble is anticipated for W&M in Lexington tonight when Giermak and Bobbie Goldsmith, Washington and Lee's top scorer, tangle in a battle of points. Other leading Generals include the captain, Fred Vinson, Jr., Pierson and others.

A Richmond team which has been dogged by losses, including two this week via the academic route, takes the floor against the Big Green Saturday night. Probable starting lineup for the Spiders includes Bernard Dolsey and Art Haines at forwards, Doug Pitts at center with Al Rinaldi and West Brown at guards.

After the Richmond game, W&M takes an exam-period lay-off which will keep the team idle until Thursday, Jan. 29, when The Citadel invades Williamsburg, with the Braves facing George Washington in Richmond two nights later.

'Mural Cage Season Starts With Twin Bill

The intramural basketball season starts tomorrow with two games on tap. Phi Alpha and Phi Kappa Tau will meet in the small gym at 3:15 p. m. Kappa Sigma and Pi Lambda Phi play in the second half of the doubleheader, scheduled to begin at 4:15. Thursday Lambda Chi and Theta Delta play in the opening game, while the By Passers and the Dribblers meet in the nightcap. These four games are the only ones scheduled before exams.

The intramural swimming meet will begin tomorrow night. Preliminaries are tomorrow, while the finals will be held on Thursday. Trunks must be worn at all times; the meet will begin at 7:30.

The independent basketball league will be composed of eight teams. The following is the list of managers for each: The Dribblers, Wallace Hedman; OD "Rockets", Skip Snidow; By Passers, Bill Hawkins; Flying Vets, Bill Qualls; Vets "C", W. E. ## Several Colleges Consider McCray For Coaching Jobs

With football season finally concluded for all the teams of the country, the annual season of firing and hiring of coaches is in progress, and William and Mary coach Rube McCray has been mentioned in connection with several jobs at other schools.

He has had discussions with University of West Virginia officials regarding the job as head mentor at that school, and he was reported in a Pittsburgh newspaper as having signed to coach at the University of Pittsburgh. The report regarding the Pitt job was denied by athletic officials of both schools, including McCray.

Holder of a three-year contract at William and Mary, he has obtained permission from President Pomfret to discuss the job with officials of the Mountaineer school, and a move to that school would be a promotion in salary and size of school for McCray.

He stated last week, however, that he was very well satisfied here at William and Mary and had made no plans to leave.

McCray turned in the most successful season in the history of William and Mary last fall when his Indians won nine games and lost one before dropping a two-point decision to Arkansas in the Dixie Bowl Jan. 1, 1948. The Braves won the Southern Conference championship and tied for the State Big Six crown.

Razorbacks Defeat Indians In Dixie Bowl Contest, 21-19

The first annual Dixie Bowl game couldn't have started with a better-matched pair of football teams than William and Mary and Arkansas, and the 25,000 witnesses got their money's worth of gridiron thrills before the afternoon was over.

The lead changed three times in the see-saw "Battle of the Breaks," with the Razorbacks getting one break too many. The Indians outplayed their Southwestern Conference neighbors everywhere but in the passing department.

Braves Score Early

The Indians took the kickoff to open the game, but were unable to progress in two tries. Buddy Lex stepped back and quick kicked on third down, and when Aubrey Fowler finally picked it up on his own six, Ralph Sazio and Knox Ramsey were right there to hit him hard. He dropped the ball under the impact and Tommy Thompson, defensive star of the game, covered it. In two plays, Cloud bulled his way into the end zone, and Stan Magdziak added the point by placement.

A few minutes later, Lex quick kicked again, and again the ball got away from Fowler, and the same Thompson covered it for William and Mary on the 22. An offside penalty nullified Cloud's 20-yard trip to the end zone, and Arkansas finally took over on downs. They couldn't move, either, and punted to the Indian 23.

Lex and Cloud spearheaded a drive downfield that found Cloud in the end zone early in the second quarter, after the Redmen had covered 77 yards in eight plays. Magdziak's kick was high, but the strong wind took it wide. With just 18 minutes of play gone, the Indians had what seemed to be a comfortable 13-0 lead.

Razorbacks Take To Air

After two punt exchanges, the Razorbacks took to the air; Ken Holland stepped back to heave one and found halfback Ross Pritchard standing all alone down on the William and Mary 35. He pitched a high wobbler which finally got there and little Pritchard raced the remaining distance behind beautiful blocking to score. Fowler kicked the extra point.

Then the Indians took to the air in an effort to score once more before the half, which had only a couple of minutes left to live. Magdziak tossed one into the flat, but Eckel Rowland, reserve Razorback center, slipped under it and raced untouched 70 yards to pay dirt. Fowler's placement was good again and the Porker-state squad went into the lead, 14-13, as the mid-game intermission came up.

The Braves weren't through yet, and came back strong immediately after the half. At first they couldn't move with the leather, and Lex punted to the 10. Arkansas couldn't make headway either, and Fowler punted to his own 45. Cloud took it to the 30, and after a couple of penalties, Lex carried to the 10. Four plays later, Lex passed to Hank Blanc in the end zone and Magdziak again missed the extra point.

Long Scoring Drive

In the final period, the Razorbacks started a drive on their own three where a punt was downed, and drove almost the length of the field, aided by penalties and passes.

Muscles Campbell took the ball and went over from the eight with the winning score. Fowler converted.

The stubborn Indians came back strong, driving all the way to the Porker 15, before a lateral went wide and Arkansas recovered with only a short time left to play. They froze the ball until with final whistle sounded with Arkansas ahead, 21-19.

Ramsey Signs Pro Grid Pact

Knox Ramsey, great William and Mary guard for four seasons, has been signed by the Los Angeles Dons of the All-America professional football conference, it was announced yesterday by the Associated Press. He will report Aug. 1.

Knox has been a regular all four years at William and Mary, moving into a first-string line berth the first season football was resumed here during the war, and he played regularly the rest of his time in school.

Many honors have been bestowed on the 200-pound Tennessean. He won All-Southern positions several years and was named to first-string slots on several all-America elevens last fall.

Playing the same exceptional football here as his brother, Gardner, before him, he will join "Buster" in professional ranks.

Among the things for which Ramsey was justly praised as a collegiate player were his fine blocking and his great defensive play which had him in on every play.

SMOKE SIGNALS

By BILL GREER

Having just finished its longest football season in history, the William and Mary athletic department is looking forward to the 1948 and 1949 seasons, but is still receiving reports concerning happenings of the season just past, especially regarding the Dixie Bowl.

Well received wherever they went, reports of the Indians' stay in Birmingham uphold the tradition. A letter from one of the more rabid of the Magic City gridiron fans, G. D. Myrick, a railroad executive, was outspoken in his praise of the Big Green Indians, as were many others Myrick said:

January 5, 1948.

Coach McCray:

Gentlemen, I salute you. It was a genuine privilege to watch your fine team in action on New Year's Day. I am still trying to figure out how you managed to lose.

You showed me a rock-ribbed line that could butt heads with any in the country. In such fine line play it is impossible to pick a stand-out, but Sazio caught my eye.

You showed me a powerful ground attack. You showed me some nice, clean ball handling, with the necessary fast elusive backs to make the attack click. You showed me the finest plunging fullback these old eyes have beheld since the days of Ed Shirling, one of Mike Donahue's greatest at Auburn.

Best of all, you showed me a fine looking bunch of boys, clean, sportsmanlike and well coached. We liked you.

Looking over your roster, I note that although your losses are extensive, there are enough returning to cause severe headaches for your opposition next year. I hope you make the Sugar or Orange Bowl. Failing that, nothing would please me more than to have the opportunity of watching you again in the Dixie Bowl.

Thanks again. You made a fine impression on the Birmingham fans, and many will watch your 1948 record with interest, among them will be,

G. D. Myrick.

Box 2634, c/o T.C.I.

On the other side of the issue comes the story about Washington and Lee sending pictures of the W&M-W&L game to Arkansas to give the Razorbacks an excellent job of scouting.

If game movies were to have been obtained by either school, they should have been traded so as to give each team an equal opportunity. But, of course, seeing Jack Clour run for four touchdowns against Washington and Lee and studying his action, and stopping him yourself was another matter, as the Porkers soon found out.

The athletic relationship between William and Mary and W&L has not been too happy during football months recently, so perhaps it is better that the school from Lexington elected to remove itself from the Indian schedule, making room for a better team.

Speaking of schedules, the 1948 Tribe grid card is rapidly shaping up, with the traditional Thanksgiving day game with Richmond being shifted to an October date, thereby allowing the Indians to play two strong teams on the last two weeks of the season.

The Saturday after Thanksgiving this year will find the Braves tangling with Arkansas in Little Rock, and other Saturday fans will see the Braves play such teams as North Carolina, N. C. State, Wake Forest, VMI, VPI, Richmond, and Davidson, with two more strong teams to be added, probably coming from the North and from the Southeastern conference.

Because of a conflict with an important Duke game next season, the W&M-North Carolina game may be played in Williamsburg again. See SMOKE SIGNALS, Page 5

Indians Nab Three Wins On Court

During the weeks preceding and following the Christmas vacation, William and Mary's basketball forces won three out of four games, including victories over the University of Virginia, Randolph-Macon and VMI, and a loss to Wake Forest.

Playing against the University of Virginia Dec. 17 in Blow Gym, the Indians ran the ragged Cavaliers a merry chase before leaving the court with a 51-33 victory over the team from Charlottesville. Early in the game, the Braves ran up a lead of 7-0, and increased it to 17-4 a few minutes later.

Wake Forest Game

In the Wake Forest game, played in Norfolk's City auditorium on Saturday, Dec. 20, the Tribe looked sluggish in dropping a 61-52 verdict to the Deacons of Wake Forest. Getting off to a slow start, William and Mary trailed at halftime, 30-16 before pulling up on Wake Forest during the second half.

Gentry, Wake Forest dribbling ace, put on a show of his own, dropping in 25 points to contribute materially to the downfall of the Indians. Dick Hungerford was outstanding for the Braves.

W&M Sponsors Tank Team; Track Starts

Coaches Need Men To Fill Every Event

Tom Power and Robert Schultz, newly appointed swimming coaches, said in initial reports that the swimming team's practice sessions indicate a surprising lack of interest on the part of male students. According to Power, the team needs swimmers badly in every event, including diving, free style, back stroke, breast stroke, relay, and medley relay. Candidates are urged to report to the coaches as soon as possible, since they desire to hold as many organized practice sessions as possible before the first meet.

The schedule consists of five dual meets in addition to the Virginia State and Southern Conference meets. The Tribe tankmen open at home against Randolph-Macon on Feb. 4. Following are meets with Washington and Lee in Lexington, Feb. 7; William and Mary Norfolk Division in Norfolk, Feb. 7; University of Virginia in Charlottesville, Feb. 18; V. P. I. at home, Feb. 23; State meet, Feb. 26 and 27; and the Southern Conference engagement on March 5 and 6.

The intramural swimming meet this week is expected to uncover some outstanding talent, and the coaches are counting on them to form the nucleus of the squad. Practices will be arranged to suit the individual's class schedule. At present the accent is on speed in reporting as there is not a great deal of time before the first meet.

The International Relations Club will be open for new membership at the beginning of next semester. All upperclassmen who are majoring in any of the Social Sciences should see Dr. Charles O. Lerche, assistant Professor of Government, in Marshall-Wythe.

Mills Of VMI Again

Word from Lexington has it that VMI students believe Chi Mills, their star tackle, is every bit an All-American football player, and they have quotations to back up their statements.

While Mills has been the outstanding player on a mediocre team, part of this stardom is due to the fact that he has no teammate in the line capable detracting from it.

Virginia Military Institute
December 17, 1947.

Mr. Bill Greer
The FLAT HAT
College of William and Mary
Williamsburg, Va.

Dear Mr. Greer:

After reading your column in last week's FLAT HAT we are amazed that any man claiming to be a sports columnist at a first-rate college, such as William and Mary, could be so totally uninformed as to the caliber of such an outstanding football player as Malachi Mills.

You intimated in your column that Mills was nothing more than a flash-in-the-pan player and could not play regularly at William and Mary. You further stated that to be an All-American, a man should consistently be the outstanding player on the field in all games.

Review Record

Let us review the record of Mills against the top-notch opposition VMI has faced: Against Georgia Tech, Mills was said to have been "as good as any man on the field" by Coach Bobby Dodd. In the words of the Atlanta Journal, "In the line the cool, deliberate play of Malachi Mills was tops. Tech couldn't take him out, and the only thing to do against the fellow was to run around the other side." Pretty good, considering the fact that Bob Davis was the tackle playing opposite Mills!

Against Virginia's Cavaliers, Mills was again outstanding. Art Gueppe made a point of coming to the VMI dressing room, following the game, for the expressed purpose of congratulating him on his game.

William and Mary's line knows full well the ability of Mills. Apparently you have not talked to any of the football team, (We talked to several—Ed.) or to your very excellent coach, Rube McCray. It was Mills who rose up to meet Jack Cloud and Buddy Lex three successive times within the three yard line to stop an Indian drive on the one. It was after this game that Mills broke a time-honored precedent by being chosen lineman of the week for the second time in the season by the Richmond Times Dispatch.

In the Thanksgiving battle with VPI, Mills was voted the outstanding lineman on the field by the visiting sports writers.

We hope that this letter will give you a hint of why Mills made second team AP All-American over George Connor. Might we remind you also that on this same AP team which you so severely criticized, the great Indian fullback, Jack Cloud, was a third team selection, an honor which cannot be questioned.

We would appreciate a printed retraction in the FLAT HAT, and will be looking forward to some notation in your paper in the near future.

Yours truly,
Grover Outland
Lon Walter
VMI - Class '49

P. S. Who holds the tackle positions on the William and Mary All-Opponent eleven?

Sorry, fellows, no retraction. Granted that Mills is good—the best at VMI, but the more we see of W&M tackles Ralph Sazio and Red Caughron, the more convinced we are that no tackle in the Southern Conference could have taken the job from either during the past season.

Thomas Calls First Meeting For Tomorrow

Track coach Al Thomas has announced the first call for track practice. All men who are interested are asked to attend a meeting to be held in the Blow gymnasium lounge at 4 p. m., Wednesday, Jan. 14. At that time, candidates will have an opportunity to meet the new coach and discuss plans for the coming season.

Candidates for track manager will also meet at the same time. The manager will receive a varsity letter and sweater, will make all trips with the team, and will gain experience in management. The position is still open, and all students are eligible. One does not have to be a senior to be manager.

Coach Thomas is a former track and football letterman at the University of Michigan. He was also a member of the All-America Track team. Thomas is well qualified for the job, and will be able to spend all of his time with the team this spring. The college is adopting a policy calling for a strong track team, beginning with this season. The aim is to send out a team that will be able to compete on even terms with the other teams in the Southern Conference. John Brown, an outstanding broad jumper and pole vaulter, during his competitive days, will assist coach Thomas in those events.

Several Prospects

A number of prospects have been working out for the past week. Among the most promising are Dick Reymier, Virginia state high school pole vault champion and Clyde Baker, a freshman from New York, who won the Queens cross-country championship in school in addition to being the outstanding member of the first post-war cross-country team this past fall. He is a distance hopeful.

Other outstanding prospects, holdovers from last year's team are Lou Creekmur, 240 pound shot putter; Clarence "Rocket" Roy, crack half-miler; Francis McFall, a speedy sprinter from Norfolk; and Dick Scofield, distance ace.

"We have a tough schedule this year, and everyone will have to get out and practice daily in order to experience a successful season. I am looking forward to meeting all track aspirants on Wednesday," said Coach Thomas.

Johnny Cox, W&M director of public relations, tells that while in New York attending the meeting of publicity directors last week, he talked with a very important member of the Associated Press who admitted that a mistake had been made in omitting Knox Ramsey from the AP's first string all-America team.

Professional football will be missing a great drawing card if some team fails to bring together Knox and Garrard Ramsey, both ex-William and Mary grid stars as running mates at the guards.

As it stands now, they will seldom get a chance to see each other, with Buster playing in a National loop and Knox in the All-America conference.

the Randolph-Macon Yellow Jackets here Wednesday night, 68-35. It was lanky Chester Giermak, center, who sparked the Tribe to the win. Dropping in shots from all angles, he was way out in front as far as scoring honors are concerned. Twelve goals and three free throws gave him a total of 27 points. Forward Buddy Lex also had a good night, scoring 12 points. He was playing his first post-football season contest. High scorers for the Randolph-Macon five were Bob Springer, guard, and Bill Holloway, center. VMI Game In their last home appearance for three weeks, the William and Mary quintet downed a VMI team which fought for three quarters of the game until finally worn down, 53-39, Friday night. The shooting and fine floor play of freshman guard Fuzz McMillan gave the Indians the energy to pull away from the Keydets with 10 minutes to play. At that time the score was 33-33, but the worn out visitors could not hold McMillan and Chester Giermak, and the winners built up a safe margin. The Keydets took the lead within one minute after the game began, 3-0, but a field goal and a foul shot tied the game, and then another field goal put the Indians out in front, only to be tied. The game progressed at this rate for the rest of the half, with VMI taking the lead only once, but never behind by more than five points. The score at the half was 23-21, in favor of the locals. The game progressed faster as the second half started, but the visitors continued to hound the Big Green at both backboards, taking the ball off their own and that of William and Mary. With six minutes gone they took the lead, 29-27, but for the last time, as a floor shot by Charlie Teach tied the score. High scorer for the night was Giermak with 19 points, and second was McMillan with twelve points. Top Keydet point-maker was Eddie Lutes, who also sank twelve points.

Welcome Mat Out For W&M As Birmingham Goes All-Out

By Tom Joynes

Birmingham's newspapers and radio stations went all-out for the Dixie Bowl game, and since the Indians got there a week early, every sports page and sports broadcast featured William and Mary.

Ed Jones, photographer with the Birmingham News, snapped a thousand pictures when the plane from Williamsburg arrived, but none of the football players turned out well; however, he did get a mighty good shot of the players wives. The gridders were humiliated.

On Saturday morning, the Indians got all dressed up in their "Saturday go to Meetin' clothes," and invited the press for pictures. One photographer rushed into the park and said all he wanted was a picture of Jack Cloud flying. "Gimme plenty o' altitude," he said.

One of the photogs pointed to Lou Creekmur and said, "I'd like to get a good action shot of them." He was amazed to see that Lou had only two feet.

Art Sydney, Birmingham Post, wanted to sponsor a move to have Korczowski and the two Magdziaks change their names to "Ko" and "Ma" but nothing more came of it. "If they can spell their own names, they're too smart to play football," argued Art.

One of the local sports writers spent the first afternoon watching the Indian linemen at work. He rushed back to the office and wrote: "When the Lord put husky football players onto this earth, he intended them for William and Mary."

Another good spread came in the Birmingham Age-Herald, which ran a large picture of Ralph Sazio with the outline, "Superman? No, it's Sazio." From then on Ralph's official nickname was "Superman," or "The Man from Tripton."

But in all the publicity William and Mary got, there wasn't a derogatory remark made, and the old school's fame was spread over more pages and more air lanes than ever before in its history.

Cavaliers' Student Council Protests Board Of Visitors Fraternity Rules

Protesting recent decisions adopted by the Board of Visitors regarding hours during which women may visit fraternity houses, the University of Virginia's Student Council, "in a letter signed by Lilburn Talley, president, disclaimed all responsibility for rules or decisions disguised as student government actions, but actually done under Administration direction alone."

The Student Council letter signed by Talley reads as follows:

The Student Council, on behalf of the students, formally protests the recent action of the Board of Visitors in forcing a group of rules upon the students without consultation with the students.

It has been rumored that the Student Council is to be responsible for the enforcement of these rules and for the punishment of infractions. The Student Council wishes to inform the students and the administration that it has no intention of enforcing any rules in the framing of which it has had no voice. The Student Council is willing to accept the responsibility for student government if the rules to be enforced are promulgated by the Student Council in cooperation with the administration and the student groups concerned.

President.

The rules laid down by the Board of Visitors with the approval of President Darden, state that women are to be "entertained in living and recreation rooms only," and that fraternity houses "shall be conducted in an orderly and gentlemanly manner."

Soprano Frances Yeend Will Appear As Artist In Second W&M Concert

Frances Yeend, noted soprano of opera, concert and radio, will appear as guest artist in the second program of the William and Mary 1947-48 Concert Series on Wednesday, Feb. 4, at 8 p. m. in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

Miss Yeend was born in Vancouver, Wash., and attended Jefferson High School in Portland and Washington State College. In high school, she received the Percy Rector Stevens award for singing and was active in the direction of two church choirs.

Dancer and Actress

The soprano is also a talented dancer and actress. As a child, she studied ballet under Serge Okransky, dancing partner of Pavlova, and later studied modern dancing at the Martha Graham School. Miss Yeend admits that her second choice for a career would be that of dramatic acting. In high school she received the Oregon Journal award for her performance in The Taming of the Shrew and after graduation participated in Shakespearean plays given by the Henry Duffy players on the west coast.

While on the coast, Miss Yeend appeared in concerts, local opera and dramatic performances, notably with the Portland Symphony Orchestra. Two years ago, she came to New York and was heard on such radio programs as "Serenade to America" and "The Hour of Charm." She also appeared in special work with the New York Philharmonic and with the Naumberg Orchestra in open air concerts in Central Park. She made her New York opera debut in the Columbia Concerts Opera Company's production of Carmen, in which she sang the role of Micaela.

Appeared As Soloist

During last winter's concert season, Miss Yeend appeared as soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Serge Koussevitsky. Again with the Boston Symphony, she sang during the performance of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony at the Berkshire Festival this summer. At the festival, she also sang the leading role in Benjamin Britten's new opera, Peter Grimes, with Leonard Bernstein conducting. In September, she appeared in Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn., with a symphony orchestra under the baton of Andre Kostelanetz.

Dean Cox Fund Will Supplement Gifts To Library

The Dean Cox Memorial Fund, comprising over $200 raised on the campus last spring following the late dean's death, will be used to supplement gifts to the library in his memory. This was decided by the Wythe Law Club, sponsors of the fund, at a meeting held last Wednesday.

Approximately $450 will be available for establishment of a Theodore S. Cox Memorial Bookshelf, which will be set up in the law library.

Selection of the individual books will be made by the faculty of the department of jurisprudence. Each book will be appropriately inscribed in memory of Dean Cox, who served as head of William and Mary's law school from 1930-1947.

Final Semester Debate

The last debate of the Intercollegiate Debate Council for this semester was held today at St. Helena. The national topic, "Resolved: That a Federal World Government Should Be Established," was the subject of discussion. William and Mary's representatives from the council are Jay Sawyer and George Willis.

Bot-E-Talk

Let's be serious, kids. Let's study, that is so we can all be here next semester to play with our little friends.

Ring-ing in the new year: Bill Jolly and Marge Oak; Nancy McFadden and Dixie Walker; Carmen Fitchette and Bill Hoffman; Shirley Kernodle with her ring here and her heart at home; Libby McLaughlin and an alumnus; Tooker Ewart and Frank Shields; Nora Spann and Joe Chandler; Willie Spewak and Bruce Gerbraich from Maryland; Robbie Robinson and a man from Texas; Anne Moore and Bill Parker; Eloise Hughes and Wally Harrison; Bobbie Daughtrey and Tommy Thompson, but that's old news by now.

Keeping Balfour's business growing: (pinned, that is) Chub Hopkins and Si Plunkett; Dick Scofield and Jo Jonscher; Corky Wampler and Ann Norman; Peggy Shaw and Jack Chandler; Bill Low and a Chicago girl.

The Pi Ka's started early at a beer party: Rock Palese switching "Vineyards" to Scotty Wall; Ken Scott and Betsey Graves; Carl Warrick and Eleanor Seilor; Jean Bamforth and Surry Harrison; Henry Blanc and Martha Hogshire (Henry must have his freshmen and his Pi Phis); Hugh Haynie and Paulette Chambers; Ann Hulce and Clint Baker; Terri Howe and Jim Brothwell; Jake Stevens and Bev McAnnaly.

Made plans: George Heflin married during Christmas. Boots Cummings and Bryan Smither, likewise. Then there's the SAE stag beer party—and on Saturday afternoon, yet.

Tri Delt dance: Leap-ing into it: Bonnie Renninger and Jim Hutcherson; Jane Uhlendorf and Dave Strubinger; Rosie Relph and Spencer Overton; Joyce Wilck and Bob Burns; Fran Fleming and Tom Athey.

Farewell to the old party boys: Birnie, Adams, O'Neil, Grether and Sherry. What a shame, the ABC won't be the same come February graduation.

Plebe Christmasing at West Point and returning with an "A" pin: Frances Charlton.

Any innocent rich young thing wanting a date should call O. D. 107 and ask for Stan. That's all, with love from,

Botty

Brooks Gives Deadline For Graduate Record Test

"All students who wish to take the Graduate Record Examination to be given Feb. 3 and 4 or the Medical Aptitude Test to be given Feb. 2 must register by noon on Thursday, Jan. 15," Richard B. Brooks, assistant professor of psychology and director of counseling, announced.

Students may register for these examinations at Brooks' office in Washington 213.

Lambert Requests Students To Announce Withdrawals

"Men and women who plan to withdraw from William and Mary at the close of the current semester are requested to notify their respective deans of this fact by letter stating the reason for withdrawal in order that a correct statement of the action may be entered on the permanent records of the students concerned," J. Wilfred Lambert, dean of students, has announced.

This notification will also greatly assist the college in reassigning available dormitory accommodations and in making plans for second-semester registration.

Club To Entertain Students Tonight With French Film

Sponsored by the French Club, "Royaume des Jouets," a French film, will be presented tonight at 7 p. m. in Washington 100 for French students and members of the College. Slides of Brittany will be shown also.

Eric von Stroheim, veteran of American movies and rated among the first of French actors, will star in a full-length presentation, "La Grande Illusion", to be presented Feb. 3. Two showings will be held, at 4:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m., in Washington 100.

The picture concerns the flight of men from Germany during the first World War, and won honors from French critics equivalent to our Academy Awards. It runs approximately 90 minutes and has English subtitles.

Attempts are being made to present a 1:30 p.m. showing in the Williamsburg Theatre. Students may obtain tickets from any of the modern language professors. Dorm representatives who will sell tickets include Paulette Chambers, Chandler; Bette Pace, Barrett; Rheba Burgess, Jefferson; Arnold Probst, Brown; and Richard Lechaux, Old Dominion.

An admission of 25 cents will be charged.

Thorne Will Show Slides

Thomas Thorne, head of the fine arts department, will present a series of slides with accompanying discussions on Spanish art at 8 p. m. tomorrow in Barrett living room.

There will be a short business meeting for Spanish Club members at 7:30, but the program is open to all students.

Cause for American Pride...

Four more and seven years ago our fathers brought forth, upon this continent, a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation, so conceived, and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met here on a great battle-field of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of it as the final rest-ing place of those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But in a larger sense we can not dedicate—we can not consecrate—we can not hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our poor
